

MSP Prison to College Pipeline Program Holds Graduation

PARCHMAN – Latest University of Mississippi Prison-to-College Pipeline Program Graduation at Parchman Student inmates with a GED or high school diploma at the Mississippi State Penitentiary at Parchman can smoothly transition to college coursework through the University of Mississippi Prison-to-College Pipeline Program.

Nine students recently graduated from the spring program.

Faculty, including Co-founder and Director Dr. Patrick E. Alexander, associate professor of English and African American Studies, serve as the program's primary instructors, along with former faculty.

