

Look out for K9s at Mississippi State Penitentiary

PARCHMAN – Deputy Warden Derrick Sanders, K9 Officer Jeremy Parker, and Deputy Superintendent Josh Russell are putting in the work to be ready for tracking and detection training at the Mississippi State Penitentiary at Parchman.

Sanders works with bloodhounds Nelly and Hank for tracking; Parker and Russell handle the K9 team.

"Consistent training keeps our handlers and K9s sharp, prepared, and ready to protect the safety and security of our facility," said Supt. Frank Caswell. "Proud of the dedication and commitment our teams continue to show!"
