

Resources made available for job fair for inmates

FLOWOOD – Eleven employers, community partners, resource providers, and workforce professionals dedicated to supporting justice-involved women with valuable resources, employment opportunities, and supportive services convened for the Flowood Elevate: Empowering Your Next Steps, a resource-job fair, at the Flowood Community Work Center.

"This event was more than providing information; it was about creating connections, building confidence, and empowering women to take the next step toward a brighter future," said Program Team Lead Petrice Adams for Community Corrections.

A special thank you to all of our participating partners, vendors, staff, and supporters who shared their time, expertise, and resources for the August 25 event.

"Together, we are strengthening reentry and creating opportunities for success!" Adams said.

